

Builders

meet your

Inspectors

at the May Membership Meeting

The 2017 building season is underway. Here's an opportunity to familiarize yourself with the changes that your inspector will be looking for.

Understanding and comprehending your building officials' expectations will assist you in a successful building season and will help to keep you all on the same page while you cover issues that may have surfaced on the job site.

Don't risk not knowing, especially when placing bids for potential projects as these changes could affect your bottom dollar. Please join us for this informal round-table session.

We will also be awarding our student scholarships that evening. The evening will include a delicious dinner which is free with your membership. If you have specific questions or you would like to add something to the agenda call the HBA at (989) 775-7747.
